This month:

- Almost Synchronized
- Jim Robinson
- Ha' Loonie
- Isabelle & Sam

We hope you can join us for another great night of music with these returning performers.

ALMOST SYNCHRONIZED is a small brass and beats band comprised of four local teens from the Seaway District High School music program who first performed in the spring of 2017 at the Brushes, Brass and Chocolate Fundraiser hosted by the Iroquois United Church. Since then they have played at a variety of local events, and have been writing and recording their own music.

Nick Howard (tenor sax), Derrick Jansen (drummer), Jayden Rowe (baritone sax), and Bryce St Pierre (trumpet), will keep you entertained with a variety of well-known tunes as well as some of their own originals. You can follow them on social media on Facebook, Instagram, and Soundcloud @almostsynchronized.

Montreal-based JIM ROBINSON is set to release his 9th CD this spring, a collection of songs his producer Jason Lang has referred to as "Contemporary Cinematic Jungian Alt-Folk City Cowboy Music." While his CDs can qualify, even live up to this kind of description, his live performances consistently aim to engage his audiences with singable choruses, foot tapping rhythms, and memorable narratives often tinged with a little humour and irony. Jim has become a regular on our stage, and we're happy to welcome him back this fall, along with Susan Fowler on back-up vocals. Check out some of the songs on his website at www.jimrobinson.ca.

HA' LOONIE is a local folk trio, made up of Tony Glen, Rachelle Eves, and Harmony Koiter. Blending elements of jazz, country, celtic, reggae, and blues, the group enjoys surprising audiences with fresh takes and original tunes. They have been playing together for nearly three years in cafes, house concert venues, outdoor parties, bluegrass camp stages, all night jams, barns, retreat sanctuaries, church halls, and the warm summer streets of SDG. Community theatre brought them together as friends, while their passion for expression and interplay between instruments helped evolve the three-piece into a joyous and thoughtful force. With a focus on vocal dynamics, the nuances and beauty in the spaces between each sound, their sets tend to create a mood and invoke a sense of journey and storytelling.

The engaging vocal duo of Isabelle Delage and Sam Moss is back to close the show this month!
